SWEEPING REPEAL VOTE CAST IN REGION

MAIN STREET

Loyalty. I like that word. It's a big word. It designates one of the most priceless traits of character

There comes a time in our life; a time when our wee little craft of Life is buffetted by the storms, the cross currents and high winds of life. A time when it seems just impossible for us to go on. A time when we are bowed down deep in discouragement and despair, and we care little whether we carry on or not. It is when such a period comes into our life that we gain the true significance of the meaning of loyalty.

Of all the crushing and humiliating experiences of life, there is none more heartbreaking than to have one's cherished friends and loved ones fail us in the hour of trouble.

* * *

We go on day after day with a feeling in our heart that such-and-such a one may be depended upon wholeheartedly for loyalty, and then—like a flash of lightning ont of a clear sky—trouble comes upon us. In our tortured state of mind, we wait in vain for a friendly visit, a sympathetic telephone call or—a consoling letter, from those whom we have erected a little white stone of precious memory in the private sepulcher of our heart. Alas—those who we cherished as sincere and loyal; those whom we were so sure of their devotion and fidelity—turn out to be but glass imitations; but mere acquaintances.

But what a comfort it is to have a loyal friend; one whom we have tested out through the flaming fires of actual experience. What a joy it is to know that there is someone whom we can rely upon; someone whom we can depend upon beyond all question and doubt, at all times, under all circumstances. Someone whom we know will always be there with an outstretched hand and a friendly handclasp in our hour of need.

I know a chap—who gave up his social life for one whole year—and spent every evening for over twelve months at the bedside of an aged gentleman, so that that old man might not be lonely during the long evenings as the star of his life grew dimmer and dimmer. There was a case of loyalty for you!

I knew a mother who burned a light in a window of her home every night for two years, so that if her wayward son—who ran away from home—should return, there would be a light of welcome for him. What priceless loyalty!

* * *

I know a little boy—who—when his mother told him that he was not old enough to go to the theatre to see "Robinhood"—took the pennies from his bank and went to the florist and bought his mother some flowers to wear that evening to demonstrate his loyalty.

* * *

EARTHQUAKE ROCKS TOWN; SWAYS HOUSES

Buildings Creak and Groan. Rocks and Boulders Roll Down from Mountain. No Injuries Reported

A sharp earthquake ,the most severe ever known in Truckee, occurred last Sunday afternoon at 12:46 P. M. Houses swayed, dishes rattled, chairs rocked about and folks streamed out into the street.

The quake started with an up and down movement, but eventually assumed an east and west sway. It lasted nearly two minutes.

The telephone exchange was immediately swamped with phone calls, making it necessary to put on more operators. The shock was especially sharp along the Truckee River.

People who live along Riverside Drive state that it seemed for an instant that their home was to be torn from the foundation.

Felt at Reno

The quake shook Reno so hard that many people fled to the streets in terror, as buildings began to sway and furniture started to roll about. The needle of the Nevada University seismograph was dislodged on account of the severe tremblor. The center of the quake was established as in the Pilot Range, east of Mina. Fissures were opened on the surface along the line of a major fault in the earth's crust for 50 miles.

Severe at Sacramento

The quake was felt at Sacramento at 12:50 P. M. and was so severe it cracked plate glass windows in downtown stores and sent Sunday diners at downtown restaurants fleeing into the streets panic stricken. Other than a number of cracked windows in the downtown stores, no damage was reported.

GOOD FISHING AT INDEPENDENCE LAKE

Fine fishing is being reported at Independence Lake, located but 16 miles from Truckee, on good roads. Some fine catches of both cut throat and Eastern Brook Trout are being reported at this popular resort.

And for those who have never been to Independence Lake we wish to add that there is a very comfortable hotel out there where first class meals may be secured as well as comforable cabins for rent.

Boats may also be rented by the hour or day and the rates for both the boats, lodging and cabins are most reasonable.

CIVILIAN CORPS START FORESTRY WORK MONDAY

Two Hundred Twenty-five Men Under Army Officers Encamp for Season

Approximately two hundred and twenty-five men, chiefly from Ohio Indiana and Kentucky, under the command of Captain H. N. Lockwood Jr., are now encamped in the Civilian Conservation Corps reserve a half mile from Truckee. Coming on special trains from Fort Knox Kentucky, where they have been for two months, the corps entrained at Truckee Monday morning and immediately marched to camp. They will remain until the deep snow.

As yet all the projects which will be undertaken by the corps have not been outlined, but the building of a state or national camp, a public road leading toward town, and the erection of nine miles of telephone lines are certain. Work in the camp is under the direction of the Department of Forestry, and administrative details are handled by regular and reserve army officers. Fire fighting is one of their main objects and a special detail is always kept ready for action.

Averaging in age from eighteen to twenty-five, the men, most of whom are for the first time seeing California, seem perfectly happy and contented. They are allowed town leave frequently, are having a recreation tent erected, have their own medical service, and even their own pets, two small kittens born in the baggage car on the trip out, and a dog, called "Colonel." Camp will be finished in a few days and work on the regular projects will begin.

Charles White, president of the Truckee Chamber of Commerce, introduced both speakers to the audience.

Beth the Judge and Mr. McCormack had some very interesting messages in connection with Proposition No. 1, 9 and 10

After Judge Tuttle and Mr. McCormack spoke, Mr. White introduced Attorney E. E. Wood to the audience, and Mr. Wood quickly won the hearts of the listeners with a short but inspiring talk, expressing his supreme faith in Truckee and the future of the town.

It was the first time that either Judge Tuttle, County Clerk McCormack or Atotrney Wood have ever addressed the people of Truckee and all three made a most favorable impression.

It is to be hoped that more of these puplic meetings may be held in the future so that the community may have the opportunity to become better acquainted with the leading men of the county.

COMMUNITY PROGRAM

The Truckee Republican stands ready to extend every possible aid to the following progressive community program.

1. The establishment of a park alongside Southern Pacific Company's property on Main Street, with trees, shrubs, flower beds and a fountain.
2. Moving the Memorial at the State line to the new proposed park.
3. Building of a Community Building with suitable auditorium for public gatherings, and a gymnasium for the young people of the community.
4. The erection of suitable Welcome signs at the east and west entrance to Truckee.
5. Establishment of fish rearing ponds by the California Fish and Game Commission along the Truckee River.
6. Operation of water systems by the Truckee Public Utility District to enable cheaper rates.
7. Forming a new county consisting of the Eastern end of Placer and Nevada County, to be known as Tahoe County and with Truckee as the county seat.

Such a move is imperative for the development and expansion of the Truckee-Tahoe-Sierra Region.

A RED UNIVERSE

This theory of an exploding universe, which the astronomers seem to be accepting, looks pretty radical to us.

The big idea is that everything is flying to pieces The whole universe, with its thousands of galaxes and billions of suns and systems, is bulging outward and running away from itself. Or rather, running away from us. We with our little solar system, are supposed to be near the center of our own galaxy, which in turn is somewhere near the center of the whole vast aggregation of galaxies Everything is flying outward. And the farther off it is the faster it is flying.

Hereabouts, the centrifugal speed is only about three miles a second. Stars and nebulae away out on the remote frontiers of space, so far away that it takes light from them 150,000,000 years to reach us, are hurtling into the beyond at the dizzy rate of 15,000 miles a second.

The scientists are convinced of this by the "red shift" in the spectrum. If a heavenly body is moving away from us the light from it in the spectrum shifts toward the red end. That means the waves are longer, or seem longer, as they would if the source of the light were moving away. The amount of red shift shows the speed of removal.

Such things are too high for us. Nevertheless amateurs may be pardoned for suggesting that it sounds like bunk. Though we wouldn't blame anything for running away from us, we believe in a more conservative and contented universe. Couldn't that Red shift be caused by the light rays slowing down? Wouldn't even a light wave get tired after traveling for 150,000,000 light years; Or is the Universe going red?

IT IS REALLY BETTER

The most conservative—not to say the pessimistic—of the observers are now willing to admit that business is better. They are a little worried as to what may happen when the seasonal upturn is followed by the seasonal drop, but they come right out and say things look better today than they have for some time.

With steel operations at 47 per cent capacity, with automobiles selling fast, with slight wage raises beginning to take the edge off big wage drops, no one can now doubt the forward movement. City street cars are filling up once more with men going to work and returning from it. The ground lost in a year and a half has been regained in the past ten weeks.

HUMAN FIREFLIES

Delaware has just passed a law requiring pedestrians on highways to carry lights. A lantern or flashlight carried in the hand will do, but it must indicate the presence of a pedestrian to the more swiftly moving motorist.

The effect of this law will be watched with interest by other States. If the accidents are seen to be greatly diminished by this requirement, similar legislation elsewhere will be bound to follow.

MORE HOMES NEEDED

The Department of Commerce estimates a shortage of 500,000 homes in the United States today. By the end of 1933 the pent-up volume of deferred home-building will amount to $3,000,000,000. This takes into account the fact that immigration has stopped, that births and marriages have decreased in number and that the average family is smaller in size than formerly. The estimate is based on a study of 300 cities, nearly half of which reported many residents living in houses unfit for habitation and on the number of home structures the country should have if it had built during the last three years only half the homes we constructed during normal times.

What has checked the normal construction of homes? High real estate taxes, for one thing. The difficulty of keeping up payments on homes already built, for another. It is evidence of our crazy, or at least inefficient, economic system that homes have cost more than they should, that they have been beyond the means of families of moderate incomes, that taxes and special assessments have eaten up their normal value.

As a nation we believe in home-owning, but we have made it difficult to realize. The high-pressure salesmanship which sold people lots and got them embarked on poorly financed home-construction made everything look easy beforehand. The difficulties came later. A new deal in this matter will do the whole nation a lot of good.

Discussing Keratoses and the Possibility of Skin Cancer

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

MY ATTENTION has been attracted by a very recent article from the pen of a fellow columnist for whom I have much respect and admiration. In this article the theme under discussion is the possibility of skin cancer. No one would be less likely to wish to cause undue apprehension than this same physician-author and teacher. I think it is within the ethics of the profession for me to say that my own long experience creates in my mind considerable concern when I read this paragraph.

SPEAKING of certain skin spots, which he calls "keratoses," this columnist says, "Their importance is due to the fact that some of them are actually the earliest stage of cancer and that their removal prevents the development of cancer in that spot. Senile keratoses, if left alone, in a large percentage of cases, become cancerous." Later in the article, the writer continues by stating that the only true diagnosis is obtained by "cutting a small piece of the skin and putting it under the microscope." I predict that such a statement coming from so reliable an authority will augment for a time, at least, the business of the laboratory and the surgery.

HUMAN nature is always susceptible to fear, and particularly among older people less occupied by normal activities, there is considerable tendency to grow morbid upon any possibility of threatened affliction. I have no figures at hand to show what percentage of senile keratoses or skin patches do not become cancerous, nor can I minimize the seriously high rating now held by cancer in our mortality records. I wish only to consider how far it is wise to go in laying down statements of medical authority that are likely to create alarm.

* * *

IT IS not the custom of the ethical physician to seek to withhold from a patient any reasonable knowledge of his condition, should that condition be determined after consideration of the case. Many things must be taken into the study of any case. especially serious ones. Some types of nervous systems are so affected by the mere prospect of serious illness or even by the apprehension of possible suffering in sicknesses that can be cured, that only those in attendance can predict how far it is safe to go in revealing the likely developments. These facts in themselves can do much to counteract any means used toward recovery, and in any case retard the good results hoped for.

* * *

THE period of old age is already handicapped with inhibitions and limitations. None of us would willingly add a single bugbear to existence at any stage. The major portion of living is in its anticipations, and we must make these as full of satisfaction as we may.

We have gotten the Humane Pound Bill through the Senate. Early in July it comes before the Assembly at Sacramento. Many vivisectionists are fighting this bill, which would compel Poundmasters to kill at the Pound, our stray pets, for which we pay taxes. This bill does not stop the hideous practice of vivisection, but I wish it did. Not one cure can be tracted in medicine to vivsection. No aneasthetic is used; in all the world, only five per cent of students and research workers deaden pain. Write your assemblyman at Sacramento at once, saying you are in favor of passing the Humane Pound Bill."

Capitol News Letter

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 29—(UP)—California's revenue seems to have its ups and downs with the result that members of the state board of equalization are alternately in smiles and tears.

The smiles came as a result of California's substantial thirst of 3.2 beer. The board reported that 3,660,882 gallons of beer were consumed during May, an increase of 31.2 per cent over April, the first "beer month." The May sales netted the state $73,217 as a result of the 2 cents a gallon tax.

The more tearful side of the picture was seen in the report that gasoline tax receipts for last month amounted to $3,269,475.33, a loss of 3.8 per cent as compared to May of 1932.

It would appear that people are drinking more and driving less.

Noncommittal on most of the propositions that appeared on the special election ballot, Governor Rolph was particularly anxious that California vote in favor of repeal of the 18th Amendment, claiming that the wine industry alone would net the state $75,000,000 annually and prove a tremendous aid to agriculture, the state's most important industry.

Dr. Thomas F. Joyce, former superintendent of the state narcotics hospital at Spadra, was appointed by Governor Rolph to take charge of the merged institutions of Spadra and Pacific Colony state hospital.

Eastern governors attending the National Governors' Conference here next month are going to be given a taste of wild west. Truckee is planning a wild west show for them if the schedule can be arranged; they will be met in Sacramento by real, old-fashioned stage coaches, and Governor Rolph's official engraved welcome reads: "Step right in stranger! Our hearts, our homes and all that we have are yours."

Governor Rolph has been torn between two factions concerning the proposal that July 3 be made a state holiday to give people a three day vacation. Hotel men and resort owners throughout the state have been urging the holiday and the governor seemed to be in sympathy with the move until retail merchants bombarded him with protests on the ground the holiday would hurt their business.

Ray Riley, state controller, insists he is not a potential candidate for governor. In answer to charges he sponsored a tax plan as a stepping stone to the corner office, Riley offered to put up a bond guaranteeing he would not be a candidate for governor—providing somebody else would pay the premium.

VACATIONS and HEALTH

PLANNING YOUR VACATION

VACATIONS and holidays are magic words that conjure up in our minds all the pleasures of travel and change, all the excitements of new places and strange faces, and all the rest and relaxation that come from temporary release from the drudgery and cares that are the lot of all of us in one way or another.

But they should also be planned with an eye towards the fact that they are intended to build us up for the next year's work. Too often people work so hard having a good time that they come home all played out, needing the rest they should have had on their vacation.

Even worse is the idea that we must forget everything but fun and pleasure. Of course banishing business worries and spending your vacation in the proper mental attitude are among the first essentials to getting the most out of your holidays. But it is also wise to use a little forethought to prevent the accidents and illnesses that can so easily spoil a vacation and turn a good time into a tragedy.

Change and Moderation

In planning your vacation, remember that in many respects "a change is as good as a rest." Don't spend your holidays like the sailor who went boating, or the mail-carrier who took a long walk. If possible, do just the opposite from your usual round of activities.

For example, if your occupation is a sedentary one demanding great expenditure of mental energy, plan a vacation of mild physical activity free from all strain. Golf, tennis, swimming, baseball, hiking, and similar physical pursuits in moderation are suggested. Don't begin too vigorously. Exercise should leave a feeling of pleasant fatigue, rather than exhaustion, which is dangerous to health.

Or, if you do physical work the year round, then seek a holiday of relaxation, and perhaps study and read a bit to exercise the mental processes. Some men enjoy the quiet solitude that comes from fishing. Travel for those who can afford it provides an excellent means of obtaining cultural and educational advantages.

Get away from home if you can. If you can't, remember that many people can get more good from spending their vacations at home loafing than those who tire themselves out going away.

Whatever your vacation program may be, don't make it too fatiguing or strenuous. You should plan to build up a reserve of mental and physical energy that may be called upon during the ensuing year. Keep in mind that change and moderation are the two essentials of a profitable vacation.

This is the first of a series of 12 articles on Vacations and Health. The second, on Children in Summer Months, will answer the questions:

1. How should the child's vacation be planned? 2. What precautions should be taken by children in cities? 3. What should be done before children go to summer camps?

WORKERS POUR CONCRETE FOR BOULDER DAM

LAS VEGAS, Nev., June 23—(UP)—A milestone, unmarked by ceremony, was passed at the $220,000 Boulder dam when a bucketful of concrete, eight cubic yards, was poured in a slot in the bottom of the deep canyon, signalizing the final phase of construction.

From this point work will proceed uninterrupted until August, 1935, when the project is scheduled to be compelted.

Pouring of concrete, too, marks the end of difficult phases of the construction task. For the first time, actual evidenceof accomplishment will begin to rise as the concrete dam rears itself in the canyon of the Colorado river separating Arizona and Nevada.

Behind this concrete facade, where now lies sun-baked desert, will be created the largest man-made lake in the world, containing 30,500,000-acre feet, with a shore line of 550 miles.

Pouring of concrete was on solid bedrock in mid channel and was undertaken only after geologists and inspectors determined that further excavations into the rock were unnecessary for a solid footing capable of supporting the huge dam. The dam will require 3,400,000 cubic yards of concrete.

Grouting in shallow holes on the Arizona side also is under way. This rich mixture of cement and water is forced into holes drilled in the bedrock to seal any crevices or apertures that exist beneath the rock surface.

The entire dam site ,on the bottom and up the sides, will be grouted, or cement-sealed, to make the bases for the dam as solid as possible.

Concrete for the dam is being hauled through two tunnels and then along the Nevada cliff to a point part way up the side of the cliff, where it is unloaded and transported to the bottom of the dam.

Another railway, operated by electrically driven engines, has been laid through railroad tunnel No. 1 and partly through railroad tunnel No. 2.

Cement to be used at the Lomix plant will be unloaded at the Himix plant and blended there. For the first stages of the job, the cement will be blown from Himix, a mile from the Lomix plant, through a nine-inch steel pipe line.

Deaths Continue in Hindus' Mysterious 'Reign of Terror'

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Special to The Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 29—(UP)—Once again death has sealed the way to a solution of the mysterious reign of terror which, in the past eight years, has seen the murder, disappearance or suicide of 30 Hindus in California.

A trail that has gradually grown warmer during the constant investigations of the Hindu "murder gang" by state, federal and county authorities suddenly ended at another blank wall recently when Lashman Singh, Sikh priest and a power in the Gadar political power, committed suicide in the Fairfield jail.

Lashman was under arrest for the murder of Dharim Singh, into whose body he pumped 16 bullets from two automatic pistols. He admitted the shooting, but would not reveal the motive. Questioned by investigators of the state department of criminal investigaion he said:

"Get an interpreter. I will tell the whole story tomorrow. I am a priest. I will not tell untruths."

When 'tommorw" came he was found dead, hanging from the ce' roof by means of his long turban.

Because Lashman was a powerfu figure among the East Indians of California, and because his victim held the important post of financial secretary of the Gadar party. authorities had hoped they could get important information. Lashman apparently was afraid of just that.

Once before authorities thought a solution of a Hindu murder was near. Basant Singh was arrested in Vancouver, B. C., for the murder of Bola Singh in Walnut Grove on December 15, 1930. Before California authorities could get to Canada Basant committed suicide in his jail cell. Dead Hindus tell no tales'

The deaths of Lashman and Dharim bring to four the fatalities of the last two weeks traceable directly to the weird feud that marks California's widely scattered Hindu colony.

Shir Singh Santhi, who escaped being murdered in Oroville more than a year ago was constantly fleeing from countrymen obviously seeking death. Growing tired of the long chase he too committed suicide.

Santhi took his own life in Holtville, after he had apparently asked Amelia Valdez, a young Mexican girl with whom he was in love, to sign a suicide pact. He shot the girl, then turned another pistol on himself.

While authorities have information concerning these things, they lack proof to break up the "murde gang." And they admit there will be other Hindu murders.

JOHNSON OUT TO ELIMINATE 'SPOILS SYSTEM'

Special to The Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 29—(UP)—Definite limitation of the governor's tenure to the single four year term and abolition of all unnecessary bureaus, commissions and departments is advocated by State Treasurer Charles Johnson as the quickest and best way to remove the "spoils system" from state government.

CHARLES G. JOHNSON
State Treasurer

Bureaus and departments which are absolutely indispensible should be absorbed by various constitutional offices—that is, elective offices such as controller and treasurer

Johnson declared the "spoils system" had crept into the state government and brought with it a tremendous and top heavy bureaucracy. Each governor, he said, is confronted with the necessity of meeting political debts by appointments.

"Favorites are selected, not for their fitness, but as a reward for their political or financial contribution during the campaign, and the 'spoils system' ruthlessly applied to those who have for four years proven their honesty and efficiency in public office," Johnson said. "They are removed and replaced by political favorites."

The treasurer said limitation of the governor's tenure would prevent that executive from devoting considerable part of his time to the building up of a political machine by appointments. Besides, he observed, California isn't in the habit of reelecting governors. Only once in the state's history has a chief executive been reelected, Hiram Johnson.

"During the last 20 years, constitutional government has suffered from diversion of its power to bureaus," Johnson said. "For a period it was thought all functions of constitutional government would be delegated to bureaus through the power of adminisrative influence.

"The public should look well to their interest to prevent further exploitation of the constitutional offices by the plenary direction of the governor for the benefit of his political favorites.

"The trend of public opinion definitely indicates a determination to prevent extravagance and waste in government. It is high time that politicians realize it is time to give taxpayers a new and clean deal in state government."

SEARCHERS FOR GOLD STAKED BY OFFICIALS

SEATTLE, Wash.—(UP) — The King County Welfare Board is helping the man who is willing to work but who needs a little lift to get started, W. D Shannon, commissioner, revealed.

The unemployed are panning gold in creeks in Washington with the help of the board. Many are given free fishing licenses and others are staked to a month's rations in advance.

Some have gone in the Kittitas valley and its vicinity, and others as far as the Okanogan country. Shannon said he has had no report concerning their success, but thinks it is easily possible for them to spend a profitable summer exploring the creeks.

He said the unemployed had cut and stacked 18,000 cords of wood. Seventy families have settled on farming tracts and have been supplied with dwellings at a cost of $40 each.

HOQUIAM, Wash. —(UP) — Hoquiam's famous singing frog is back between the walls of the courthouse. His deep bass serenades resound through the corridors again after he has been missing for three months. The frog apparently lives between the walls, but how he gets in and out is a mystery.

Forest Fire Costs Average $1,903.61 In Nevada County

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 29—(UP)—California's loss from forest and brush fires will be far lower than preceding years of the last decade, if the confident predictions of M. B. Pratt, state forester, and his cohorts, are fulfilled.

Nevada county expended $1,903.61 last year on forest and fire protection. This figure, of course, does not include municipal fire protection or the amount the state expended on its own initiative.

Establishment of 22 civilian conservation camps throughout the state is a splendid "break" for California's timber resources. For these concentrations of men are ideal sources of manpower for fire fighting.

In each camp, the state division of forestry has assigned a trained fire fighter. If the need arises, this man will promptly conscript a crew and rush to the fire scene.

Forest fire loss, including damage inside national forest boundaries, totaled $821,565 last year as compared to $2,885,828 the preceding year. The state spent $90,000 in fire fighting but expects to get by on $75,000 for the year beginning July 1.

In addition to the C. C. C. camps there will be 150 fulltime men established in strategic spots throughout the state. These fire suppression crews will be equipped to move swiftly from one sector to another.

To date, it has been splendid weather insofar as fire hazards are concerned, Pratt said. But the critical period would be from August 15 to September 15. Largest fire this year, so far, was in the foothills in Mariposa county. It covered 2,000 acres but was confined mostly to brush.

Still another "break" for California timber was the establishment of state labor camps. These camps constructed fire trails and roads in dangerous sectors, thus facilitating access to fire sectors.

"There will be no transients hired to man fire fighting crews this year," Pratt announced. "If the C. C. C. camps and our own fire suppression crews cannot handle any given situation, we will hire people from the district where the fire is located—people that we know and can trust."

SUSANVILLE MAN BECOMES OWNER OF OLD STAMPS

SUSANVILLE, Cal., June 29—(UP)—A collection of more than 1,000 stamps, some from countries no longer in existence, recently was received by a Susanville business man.

The stamps were collected by Antone Lassen when he was a youth at his old home in Denmark. To add to the collection now being accumulated by his daughter. Lassen wrote to Denmark to find out if the stamps were still there.

Within a short time he received a reply, bringing the book in which he had placed the stamps. Not a stamp had been added to the collection since 1898.

"God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, July 2, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "The Lord shall reign for ever and ever" (Ex. 15:18). Other Bible citations will include: "O Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears" (I Chron. 17:20).

The Lesson-Sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit ,Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love. Are these terms synonymous? They are. They refer to one absolute God. They are also intended to express the nature, essence, and wholeness of Deity. The attributes of God are justice, mercy, wisdom, goodness and so on. Principle and its idea is one, and this one is God, omnipotent, omniscient, and omnipresent Being, and His reflection is man and the universe."

Record Lumber Haul

PORTLAND, Ore., June 29—(UP)—The largest load of lumber shipped in the last decade out of Portland, key city in the great northwest lumber industry, will leave here in July abroad the steamer San Julian. Officials said 7,700,000 board feet will be sent to the Atlantic seaboard.

CALIFORNIA SPENDS $163,000 ON HIGHWAY PAINT STRIPES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 29—(UP)—As a part of the campaign to make California highways more safe the state last year spent $163,000 in painting stripes, according to a report of the division of highways.

A total of more than 3,500 miles of traffic stripe was placed on state highways during the year.

The stripe costs approximately $40 per mile. Fifteen gallons of traffic lacquer was used per mile of 4-inch stripe, representing about three-quarters of the expense, officials said.

Tests conducted by the highway laboratory were responsible for the development of a lacquer which meets the heavy requirements of highway traffic.

'MEANEST MAN' SAYS WIFE'S FRIENDS WEAR OUT HIS SIDEWALKS

AUBURN, Cal., June 27—(UP)—"Meanest man" charges were included in a divorce complaint recently filed here against Fred G. Davis.

His wife, Mrs. Edith K. Davis, charged that he objected when friends called to visit her at their home and quoted him as saying:

"I don't want anyone to come here and wear out my sidewalks."

"THERE are so many things that I cannot serve with only two in the family—and the thought of left-overs prevents me from trying out new recipes. What can I do?" asks one new bride. Cooking for two does bring its problems, but they are really not problems at all when you actually face them. I gave you a few sugestions yesterday on the advantages and savings of making more than will be required for one meal occasionally.

All else failing, theer are always creamed dishes that you can fall back upon for using up left-overs, and they are really delicious if you are careful to season the sauce or gravy well and extend the food if necessary with fresh or canned meats or vegetables. Finish the combination off with crispy bread crumbs or grated cheese and you will have an attractive and appetizing main dish. Bake the savory combination in individual ramekins to add eye-appeal.

Breakfast Food

When you prepare fresh or dried fruit for breakfast, prepare enough for dessert for dinner or luncheon. Stewed fruits make attractive whips and compotes while baked fruits like apples or pears can be stuffed with chopped nuts and raisins, chilled, dotted with whipped cream and served as a dessert de luxe. Blueberries or similar fruits may be used for breakfast and then converted into a cake or deep dish pie for supper. In the small family, as in the large, economy begins with the selections of the meat for the main course. While more expensive meats are allowable for the small family, there is no excuse for wasteful buying or cooking. If you like roast beef, do not buy a roast—the juciest cuts are bound to be too large—buy a thick steak, lay thin pieces of suet on it, tie and roast in a very hot oven for a short time. If even this is too large, use only the choicest part for roasting and chop the rest for hamburger, stuffed peppers or a meat loaf.

Delicious Roasts

For lamb, veal and pork roasts buy loin or rib chops—as many as needed. Have the bones separated at the joints, but do not cut all the way through. Roast in a very hot oven.

Baked Ham

For baked ham, buy a thick slice of ham, sear it quickly on both sides, rub both sides with brown sugar, mustard and a small amount of flour. Stick cloves here and there, add a little water and bake, covered, in a moderate oven, from one to two hours, depending on the thickness of the ham.

Stuffed Roasts

For a stuffed roast meat, instead of buying a shoulder or leg cut, buy a slice of the meat, spread it with a rather moist stuffing and roll with the stuffing inside. Brown first, then bake in a oderate oven. On special occasions, small broiling chickens, and even game birds, are nice for the family of two.

TRAFFIC OFFICERS CHECKING UP ALL RECKLESS DRIVERS

The California Highway Patrol is out to check up on all reckless drivers both old and young in this area.

Due to numerous complaints, the Highway Patrol is making a very determined drive to eliminate all reckless driving in this region.

The 20 and 25 Mile Limit will be rigidly enforced and all those who fail to comply will be subject to a reckless driving ticket, which means a fine of $25.00 and possible suspension of driver's license.

Passing on curves entering Truckee, and at the brow of the hill at the East end, as well as failure to sound horn when rounding a blind corner, or passing other cars is also being checked up very closely.

CHECK TO BE MADE ON ALL CARAVAN CARS

Russell Bevans, Registrar of Vehicles for the State of California, is out to check up on all the so-called caravans of cars which have been coming into California from the East.

These caravans have been coming from Detroit, Flint and other Eastern automobile factory cities under a dealers license. The cars travel over 3000 miles and are then sold here to motorists as new cars.

Under the new araringements these cars will all be obliged to take out a California license at the Truckee registration station before proceding to the valley, and this means that the cars must hereafter be sold as second hand cars.

Traffic Officer Ernest Barrett has received instructions from headquarters to hold up all future caravans and make them comply with the above regulations.

JUDGE TUTTLE TO SEND DRUNK DRIVERS TO STATE PRISON

NEVADA CITY—Superior Judge Raglan Tuttle of Nevada County Monday in sentencing Philip H Krantz, 54, to one year in the county jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated, made the following statement after denying a motion for probation for Krantz:

"I am going to see if we can't stop some of this drunken driving in Nevada County. We are going to stop it in some way. It is a felony and I have the right to send this man to San Quentin. The only thing that is in his favor is the fact that he comes in here and pleads guilty. I will give him credit for that, as I always do where a man makes a clean breast of it. I will say that if there are any more cases like this it is going to be the state prison.

"The court is getting tired of it and the people of this county are not going to stand for it. I will serve notice right now that commitment to state prison is going to be the rule in this county, especially in aggravated cases of this character."

LOW RAIL FARE SOUGHT BY S. P. WINS APPROVAL

Approval of Southern Pacific's application for a basic one-way coach and tourist sleeping care fare of two cents a mile between all points on its lines in six western states has been granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission and various state commissions, it was announced today.

The low fare program, providing for a 45 per cent reduction from the present first class rate of 3.6 cents a mile, will become effective July 1, according to Felix C. McGinnis, vice president in charge of system pasesnger traffic.

Under the plan as now outlned the two cent a mile tariff will be inaugurated for a 90-day experimental period, at the end of which time it will pe made permanent if warranted by increased patronage.
